

FARAVELLI
THE BEST INGREDIENT

ABOUT US

Since its inception Faravelli has been involved in the professional distribution of ingredients and raw materials for an array of diverse industries. These range from traditional uses of age-old raw materials to the use of new products to provide cutting-edge innovative solutions to modern applications challenges.

Our customers vary in size from small and medium enterprises to large multinationals belonging to the food, pet food, nutraceutical, pharmaceutical, fine chemical, and cosmetics industries.

Each sector is served by a dedicated Sales Division where a team of skilled professionals works to support customers and to provide advice for any technical and commercial issues. To enrich and make our core business as complete as possible, we also implemented a series of complementary activities designed to service the diverse needs of our wide-ranging customer base.

THE PRODUCTION SITE

Our production plant is located in Nerviano, in the immediate outskirts of Milan, Italy.

There you can find a packaging line for customizable solutions and an application laboratory where the ingredients are tested in finished goods applications.

The production factory and the Application Laboratory operate within the framework of the Faravelli quality system and are certified according to ISO, IFS, HACCP and FDA international standards.

OUR EXPERTISE AT YOUR SERVICE

We are your strategic partner, a team of people with whom you can develop a direct and lasting relationship.

The team will be with you along all steps of the development process and will follow up to assist you also in the equally crucial phase after the sale is made. We put our expertise to your service, thanks to some complementary activities designed to put our team's many skills to work for you.

► FORMULATION CONSULTANTS

The first step involves listening to, interpreting, and understanding our customer's ideas.

Then together with the customer we:

- evaluate any specific technological and commercial needs;
- analyze the feasibility and the reproducibility of the process at a scaled-up production level;
- define the organoleptic and sensory features the finished product must have;
- explore effective alternative solutions until we reach the perfect finished product.

► THE APPLICATION LAB

The Application Laboratory is one of our flagships, a sort of modern and technological tailoring design studio, in which concepts are conceived and ideas are tested using the most modern food technology equipment.

The excellent professional skills of our technologists allow a direct peer-to-peer relationship with our customers' R&D staff, enabling them to formulate ad hoc functional systems, tailored around specific needs and requirements.

► CONTRACT MANUFACTURING

First-rate expertise in the selection of raw materials, giving special attention to food safety issues, and a production plant equipped with cutting-edge technologies are the essential prerequisites for being a reliable and competitive partner for our customers.

Faravelli is the strategic partner who you can trust to produce your powder blends.

► BRANDED PRODUCTS: FARA® FUNCTIONAL SYSTEMS

Choosing to work with FARA® functional systems is a wise choice made up of many incisive elements guaranteeing concrete, innovative and economically advantageous solutions.

The advantages for the customer can be summarized in two words: simplification and optimization.

Simplification:

- research and approval of raw materials
- quality check
- decrease in number of suppliers
- supplier qualification processes

Optimization:

- improve the production process
- eliminate the need to weigh multiple individual ingredients
- reduction of preparation times in production
- inventory management

FARA® Functional Systems always guarante

the best balance between costs, innovation, and quality.

FROM RAW MATERIALS TO CUSTOMIZED SOLUTIONS

Top quality raw materials and a range of complementary services at the highest levels are the basic elements to support and help our customers to develop their ideas and product concepts.

However, sometimes this might be not enough.

There may be times when you need more - that "something extra" which turns an idea into a successful and long-lasting concept.

Our mission is to provide that missing piece, to transform each formulation and product concept into a smart and customized solution and a great finished product.
